The 18th Area Exhibition

November 18 to December 31, 1967

Foreword

In a continuous effort to make the Area Exhibition more adequately a reflection of the high quality of the art produced in the region and to improve the quality of the exhibition several changes were put into effect for the 18th Exhibition. The area was extended to a radius of 200 miles from Washington and, because many artists have turned to the camera as a medium, new categories for films and photographs were created. In addition, for the first time, we permitted entries by slide rather than the actual work.

The major responsibility for the success of the exhibition fell on the shoulders of the juror of paintings, water colors and sculpture. He was Bates Lowry, Professor of Art History at Brown University and Director designate of The Museum of Modern Art in New York. He selected 92 paintings and watercolors from more than 1,000 entries and 24 sculptures from more than 200 entries.

The other categories were selected by the members of the Corcoran staff who are listed below. Eleanor Green, Curator of Contemporary Art, has had the responsibility for organization and installation of the Exhibition. The Carmen and David Lloyd Kreeger Purchase Award was made to Thomas Downing for his painting Seven. Other Gallery purchases are to be announced.
